

SHARING INFORMATION YOUR WAY

STEP 1 Each caller is greeted with a professionally recorded message. The auto attendant template is preloaded, so your system is ready to go on day one. Your Business Phone Service can handle up to 20 callers at the same time.

STEP 2 The automated attendant will present a series of options that can direct the caller to either business or product information. As callers browse through the information, they are also presented with the opportunity to transfer to any phone you choose to take the next step.

STEP 3 Callers are transferred to your phone to close the sale. The caller is transferred to your phone and the caller is connected to you immediately.

PHONE SERVICE

Connecting with customers and potential clients when they are ready to buy is the KEY to success. When a prospect picks up the phone to call, they are ready to do business right now. Connecting with people at this time is vital; most callers are not going to bother making an order or leaving contact information on a voicemail system.

Voice broadcasts and pre-recorded messages are great for advertising, promoting and educating your audience about your business. When it's time to make a decision, however, the majority of clients prefer to speak with a live person before making any sort of commitment.

Even with the ease of recorded messages being used for business transactions, first-time clients prefer speaking with a live person that can respond to their specific concerns. The statistics overwhelmingly support that successful first-time business transactions are completed person to person.
